RE: Program Review Report
OPE ID: 00382700
PRCN: 200430323647

Dear President Garrison:

Beginning in April 2004, a team of representatives from the U.S. Department of Education, Federal Student Aid, conducted a review of West Virginia University's (WVU) administration of the programs authorized pursuant to Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, 20 U.S.C. §§ 1070 et seq. (Title IV, HEA programs). Specifically, this review focused on WVU's compliance with the requirements of the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. The findings of that review are presented in the enclosed report.

Findings of noncompliance are referenced to the applicable statutes and regulations and specify the action required to comply with the statute and regulations. Please review the report and respond to each finding, indicating the corrective actions taken by WVU since the time of the site visit. The University's response should be sent directly to Mr. James Moore of this office within 90 calendar days of the date of this letter.

B. The University

West Virginia University was founded in 1867 as the Agricultural College of West Virginia. In 1868, the institution's name was changed to West Virginia University (WVU; the University).

In 1961, the West Virginia State Legislature passed an act creating a Department of Public Safety (DPS) to provide police protection for the growing campus community. Fall 2007 enrollment at WVU exceeded 28,000 students with approximately 65% of students living on-campus.

At present, the Department of Public Safety employs 52 officers and patrols more than 170 buildings on approximately 950 acres that comprise the University's Downtown, Evansdale, and Health Sciences Campuses throughout the City of Morgantown.

C. Background

In February 2004, the U.S. Department of Education received a complaint from Security on Campus, Inc. (SOC) that alleged the University was not classifying occurrences of crime on campus in accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (the Clery Act). Specifically, SOC wrote, "According to two current, and one former University Police officers, reports that should properly be classified as burglaries, and thus be reportable under the Act, are being classified instead as "Petit Larceny" or theft, which is not reportable in annual statistics."

Based on our review of the complaint, the Philadelphia School Participation Team scheduled a program review at West Virginia University to examine its compliance with the Clery Act. A major focus of the review was an in-depth assessment of the classification of certain property crimes occurring in dormitory rooms, and the circumstances under which such incidents should be coded as burglaries and larcenies.

D. Scope of Review

The on-site phase of the program review was conducted from March 23-26, April 5-9, 12-16, May 24-28, and July 19-23, 2004. Specifically, the objective was to determine the accuracy and completeness of campus crime statistics and policy disclosures as published in the University's Campus Security Reports. Institutional records were gathered and reviewed for calendar years 1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, and 2002. Certain records dating back to 1997 were requested in part because the complaint referenced in Section C referenced incidents that were reported to WVU DPS at that time.

Additional records of incidents of crime reported were also requested from several other offices within the University. These offices had responsibility for many aspects of campus life including student and judicial affairs, student organizations, fraternity relations, and athletics. With appropriate safeguards and controls in place, University officials provided assistance with the identification, compilation, reproduction, and shipment of some required records. In all, approximately 10,000 records were acquired throughout the analysis phase of the program review. Please note, however, that the remainder of this program review report focuses on the review of WVU's Clery Act compliance during calendar years 2001 and 2002, which were the two most recent completed calendar years reported to the Department in October 2003. The review team did a thorough review of selected WVU DPS incident reports, arrest data, and related documents for those years.

During 2001 and 2002, WVU DPS generated approximately 1,500 incident reports a year. Given that volume of documentation, the review team employed sampling methodologies to test the accuracy and completeness of the statistical disclosures in WVU's campus security reports. The review team selected random and judgmental samples from various categories of Part I and Part II Offenses as defined by the Uniform Crime Reporting System. The number of incident reports selected in a particular category was based on several factors including the likelihood of miscoding occurring in that category as identified in the complaint.

The review team also interviewed approximately 30 individuals with knowledge of the WVU DPS and WVU campus safety and security programs. These interviews helped the team obtain a more complete picture of the University's approach to campus safety and Clery Act compliance.

Disclaimer:

Although the review was thorough, it cannot be assumed to be all-inclusive. The absence of statements in the report concerning the University's specific practices and procedures must not be construed as acceptance, approval, or endorsement of those specific practices and procedures. Furthermore, it does not relieve West Virginia University of its obligation to comply with all of the statutory or regulatory provisions governing the Title IV, HEA programs.

In this regard, readers of this program review report are reminded that the statistics appearing in the column labeled "ED Determinations" in Finding # 1 reflect only the total of incidents reported originally by WVU for a given calendar year in a particular crime category plus miscoded incidents (not previously reported) in the same year and category as identified by the review team. Additional reports examined by the review team were selected as part of samples of the universe of all reported incidents that resulted in the production of an incident report.

While this report reflects the initial findings of the Department, they are, however, not final. The Department will issue a Final Program Review Determination Letter at a later date.

E. Finding

During the review, areas of non-compliance were noted. Many issues and questions were addressed and resolved during the ongoing program review process. Findings of non-compliance are referenced to the applicable statutes and regulations and specify the actions to be taken by the institution to bring campus security operations into compliance with the statutes and regulations.

#1 - Failure to Properly Disclose Crime Statistics in Campus Security Reports

Citation:

Federal regulations require that participating institutions compile and publish statistics concerning the occurrence on campus of the following Part I Offenses: criminal homicide: murder and manslaughter, forcible and non-forcible sex offenses, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, and arson. In addition, the institution is required to disclose statistics of arrest and disciplinary referrals for violations of certain Part II Offenses involving liquor, drug, and weapons laws. 34 C.F.R. § 668.46(c)(1). To comply with these requirements, institutions also must develop a system that allows for the collection of incidents of crime reported to any campus security authority or external law enforcement. 34 CFR § 668.46 (c) (1)(B).

Noncompliance:

WVU failed to disclose accurate and complete statistics of all incidents of crimes on campus that were reported to WVU DPS and/or other campus security authorities in its Campus Security Reports. Sections A-E identify and explain specific elements of WVU's failure to comply in this regard. The chart in Section A provides additional detail on the violation as it applies to under-reporting and miscoding in selected crime classifications of the Part I Offenses covered by the Clery Act.

A.

Crime Classification	WVU Reported 2001	ED Determination 2001	WVU Reported 2002	ED Determination 2002
Forcible Sex Offenses	3	5	2	2
Robbery	1	2	4	5
Aggravated Assault	2*	5	4	8
Burglary	14	39	29	57
Motor Vehicle Theft	3	3	3	4
Arson	4	4	7	9

* - WVU disclosed two aggravated assaults in the CSR for 2001. However, the University's supporting documentation (audit sheets) only listed one such offense.

Chart B provides additional detail on the violation as it applies to arrest data for selected Part II Offenses covered by the Clery Act.

B.

Arrests	WVU Reported 2001	ED Determination 2001	WVU Reported 2002	ED Determination 2002
Liquor Law Violations	88	94	133	191
Drug Law Violations	25	32	34	44

The primary causes of these reporting violations are two-fold: 1) some incidents were classified improperly and 2) some incidents were coded correctly but were not included in the statistical disclosures (resulting in "Under-Reports"). The most common coding error involved burglaries (a Part I offense against the habitation) being labeled as various types of Part II larceny/theft offenses. For Chart A above, the revised statistics labeled "ED Determination" are the sum of incidents disclosed by WVU in its campus security reports for a given classification plus the additional incidents identified on Appendices A for 2001 and B for 2002.

The revised statistics labeled "ED Determination" in Chart B were arrived at by reviewing the incident reports noted in WVU's supporting documentation (audit sheets) for the statistics published in its campus security reports and then including the additional arrests identified in our samples. Often, multiple arrests were documented in a single report. For more information, please see Appendices C for 2001 and D for 2002.

C. Personal Traumatic Event (PTI) Process

WVU failed to include certain incidents of crimes reported to the Office of Student Life. Since at least the fall of 1989, WVU has had a policy that permits students who have experienced serious emotional or physical trauma to seek academic and other accommodations through the Office of Student Life. Students requesting assistance are required to be interviewed by Student Life officials and explain the circumstances justifying assistance. During these interviews, students often report being a victim or witness of serious crimes. If the interviewer finds the student's presentation is persuasive, a PTI letter is written and provided to faculty members or other institutional officials to facilitate the accommodation.

Records secured by the review team do show that PTI letters were issued in many difficult situations including cases of poor mental and physical health of a student or family member for example. However, many of these records also contain reports of sexual assault or other violent crime. Because Student Life officials are designated as campus security authorities under the Clery Act the information related by victims or witnesses must be treated as an incident of crime reported. The only exceptions would be if the incident did not occur on campus or if the incident was disclosed only to a professional or pastoral counselor, who is exempted from the generally applicable reporting requirement.

In some cases, the PTI letters specifically identify an off-campus location as the crime scene. However, many other state that the incident occurred on-campus or do not mention location at all. In a few cases, a counselor is mentioned although in other cases the PTI letter and attachments demonstrate that the PTI interview was the initial report. Specific reports of sexual assault, usually coded "S.A." and a number of incidents involving fraternity violence that may rise to the level of aggravated assault trigger a special concern. There is no indication that reportable incidents are always communicated to WVU DPS for inclusion in the campus security report statistics.

D. Fraternity Incidents

WVU failed to include certain incidents of crimes reported to the Morgantown Police Department and/or the Office of Greek Organizations, division of the Campus Organization Services Office (COSO). COSO is responsible for providing programming for and oversight of recognized student organizations. WVU has over 300 such organizations including several Greek letter social fraternities. One of the office's responsibilities is to adjudicate discipline cases involving these organizations. This is one of at least four distinct conduct/judicial systems at WVU.

Documents secured by the review team indicate a number of ongoing violent episodes involving fraternities during the review period. For example in 2001 [REDACTED] Fraternity was found in violation and sanctioned for several incidents that included breaking into another fraternity house and beating a student with a rock. The student experienced serious injuries and required significant medical attention. The documents indicate clearly that this incident should have been coded as an aggravated assault under the UCR hierarchy rule.

The Morgantown Police Department (MPD) responds to most criminal cases reported at fraternity houses. However, fraternity houses and other property owned or controlled by student organizations clearly fall within the Clery Act's campus definition. A few WVU DPS reports documenting fraternity violence were identified in our program review samples. However, these reports were classified as "calls for service" or "information." The review team did not find any entries on WVU's audit sheets that referenced an MPD report as the source document for a reportable incident at a fraternity house. For example, WVU DPS incident report 01-1284 lists 11 separate fights at or around fraternity houses between September and December 2001. The report also states "six students from separate fraternities needed medical attention for injuries." However, no such incidents could be traced to the campus security report.

E. Arson/Intentional Fires

WVU failed to include certain incidents of arson reported to the Morgantown Fire Department. A special concern was raised by the prevalence of highly publicized street fires during the review period. Couch burnings and intentionally set street fires have been commonplace often coinciding with WVU athletic events. Following a football victory in November 2002, Morgantown Fire Department officials were forced to respond to 32 separate fires while many more were set throughout the city. The review team discussed the issue of intentional fires with Chief of the Morgantown Fire Department. The Chief provided background on his work on and around the WVU campus and important information about state fire laws.

We note that intentional burning continues to be a problem in Morgantown, which led the nation in street fires between 1997-2003. Notwithstanding this fact, WVU reports a very small number of arsons. The small number of reported arsons cannot be reconciled easily with the documented accounts of malicious burning on and around the campus and suggests possible defects in WVU's Clery Act compliance program in the areas of coordination of information from public agencies or the University's application of the campus definition provisions. The Clery Act campus definition includes property owned or controlled by student organizations, non-contiguous locations, and certain public property.

Required Actions

The University must address with specificity each section of the multi-part finding identified in this program review report. In its response, WVU may concur or challenge all or any part of the finding. Additional supporting information also may be submitted with the University's response. The official response is due within 90 days from the receipt of this program review report.

WVU must appoint an institutional official with sufficient knowledge and authority to conduct the internal review described below. The designated official must possess the requisite expertise and be sufficiently empowered to conduct all necessary research, coordinate with internal and external officials and entities, prepare the response package, and act as a point of contact with the review team.

The designated official must conduct an internal review of all policing and campus security policies and procedures that are relevant to Clery Act compliance with specific attention to the following: 1) identification of incidents reportable under the Clery Act; 2) an assessment of the University's definition of campus with special attention on non-contiguous locations, property owned or controlled by student organizations, and public property; 3) coding of incidents reported to the police or campus security authorities; 4) the collection and compilation of statistics within the University; 5) communication and coordination with internal and external offices and agencies and incorporation of reportable incidents into WVU's campus security report; 6) the issuance of timely warnings and methods of delivery; and, 7) means of documenting compliance with each provision of the Clery Act.

At the conclusion of this process, the University must prepare a detailed report of its findings and submit it with its response.

For each item, the following considerations that should guide WVU's responses:

- 1) What was the stated policy or procedure in place during 2001 and 2002?
- 2) What was actually done notwithstanding the policy or procedure?
- 3) Who was responsible for carrying out the function and who was responsible for supervising that function? (Please identify individuals by position and not name)
- 4) Why did the violation or internal control weakness occur?
- 5) What, if any, policy or procedural changes were/will be implemented to address this condition? Please also address the timing of any such changes.
- 6) How were/will these changes be monitored and by whom?

7) What organizational changes, such as staffing, budgetary issues, training or reporting relationships, are needed to implement any of the above?

Adequate responses must be given for each part of the finding identified in this program review report as well as any additional violations or weaknesses identified as a result of the required reviews. All responses must be detailed and state with particularity all violations and weaknesses as well as the changes, proposed or already implemented, needed to bring the University into compliance. Please provide copies of any documents or records referenced in your response. For example, WVU must provide copies of any timely warnings that were issued with a note explaining to whom the notification was directed (student or employee group/building/University-wide, etc.) and the method of delivery. If the University identifies incidents that should have resulted in a timely warning but did not, please detail the specifics in your response.

In its response, WVU is encouraged to elaborate on any recent policing and campus safety initiatives of which it wants the review team to be aware. For example, additional information on WVU's innovative student alert systems, rapid response teams, and crisis intervention programs would be informative.

Please submit the University's response to the Philadelphia School Participation Team at the following address:

U.S. Department of Education
Federal Student Aid
The Wanamaker Building
100 Penn Square East, Suite 511
Philadelphia, PA 19107
Attention: James L. Moore, III

Based upon all available information including the institution's response, the team will determine appropriate additional actions and advise the University of these in our Final Program Review Determination letter

This program review was conducted to monitor and enforce the Clery Act and as well as to assist WVU toward full compliance. Therefore, the review team will continue to provide technical assistance and recommendations for the University's consideration. Technical assistance and recommendations are intended to facilitate corrective actions and are merely advisory.

Questions should be directed to the review team. WVU also may wish to review the Department's Handbook for Campus Crime Reporting available online at www.ed.gov/admins/lead/safety/handbook.pdf during the preparation of its response.
